Food Innovation Iftf

A recipe book for food innovation. To explore these emerging ingredients and how they can be leveraged to make food systems change, IFTF's Food Futures Lab created Food Innovation: Recipes for the Next Decade, a book of recipes for food innovation. It introduces you to the five ingredients for change—each of which contains three forecasts supported by today's early signals of change—and five catalysts for transformation.

IFTF: Recipes for Food Innovation

The Food Futures Lab at Institute for the Future cultivates a community of changemakers who use food as a medium for transformation. We draw connections across their stories to forecast unexpected possibilities for the global food system, and we provide them with tools for thinking about the kinds of futures they're building.
