The rhythm of Greenfield's text is infectious from a very early line: "It's Nathaniel talking / and Nathaniel's me/ I'm talking about / My philosophy/ About the things I do / And the people I see / All told in the words / Of Nathaniel B. Free / That's me."

you start with talking about nathaniel hawthorne, then immediately switch to william and john, and don't say if they're even related to nathaniel. either organize the first section chronologically or organize it centering about nathaniel (nathaniel's father was... he changed his name because... etc.)

Talk:Nathaniel Hawthorne - Wikipedia

John Charles Middleton "of Weybridge" is the description of the brother (1755-1826 AFAIK) of Nathaniel, given in the Rugby School entry for Frederick Graeme Middleton (d:Q102440775), in Rugby School Register: From April 1675 to April 1842 (1901). That is enough to conclude that the heraldic source has slipped up here.
