These creative, exciting, and engaging activities are refreshing alternatives to worksheets for teaching your children numbers. With these simple and inexpensive activities, children learn how to write and identify numerals, determine amounts through tactile and visual play, count from zero to ten and ten to zero, and do simple addition, subtraction, and estimation. Each chapter focuses on a different number, so that each week you can concentrate on a new number while engaging a child's curiosity, sense of play, five senses, and interest. Pre-written letters to parents are included to encourage home involvement with the number of the week. There is also an overview of children's natural mathematical development, which explains the best methods of both teaching and learning.

Introducing drama to the learning experience is guaranteed to enrich a child's development, and is an especially effective approach for children with special educational needs, including those with autism spectrum disorders. This practical handbook offers teachers an array of simple and easy-to-implement theatrical techniques that will enhance students' learning and encourage artistic expression. The author demonstrates how dramatic play doesn't have to be restricted to drama lessons and can be applied to a diverse range of school subjects and recreational settings. 'The Little Red Hen', for example, covers themes that are relevant to literacy (rhyming and rhythm), maths (counting seeds), science (discussing farming), and art lessons (designing costumes). Step-by-step lesson plans take teachers through every aspect of running fun and engaging story dramas, including warm ups, movement, songs and props. Handy tips throughout suggest ideas for developing the plays further and ways to adapt them according to the needs of the group. This book will be an essential and comprehensive guide for anyone interested in drama as an educational tool in inclusive or special needs settings.

An informative practical guide to observation, assessment and planning in EYFS settings. The main focus of this book covers how to observe children in the setting, and how, using the results from summative assessment in partnership with parents, can help children fill their potential. Clearly set out, user friendly advice, linked to Early Years Matters and brought to life by full-colour photographs of real children in real settings.

Active Learning for Fives, the sixth book in the Active Learning Series, has over 500 activities for Fives, 60 months old through 72 months old. The activities are easy to read and do with one child or a small group; "Fives Can" lists help teachers, caregivers, or parents choose the right activities for each child. Ideas on planning environments for Fives and an easy system for writing plans help set the stage for a developmentally appropriate activity program.

After all, who would be scared of monsters in pants that were stripped and dotted?

Intended for public and school librarians, teachers and other school personnel, and community groups working with children to promote an interest in reading, this book contains planning suggestions and activities for developing a reading program around the theme of Merlin the magician and Arthurian legend. The first portion of the book focuses on planning and organizing the thematic program and includes guidelines for defining the theme, publicizing the program, and creating decorations for the theme. The major portion of the book discusses various aspects of the theme and describes actual reading related activities for use with children. The separate chapters discuss Merlin and Arthur, the Middle Ages, castles, dragons and other mythical creatures, and magic tricks and potions. At the end of each chapter is an extensive annotated bibliography of books, with the appropriate grade range given for each. The book concludes with a list of additional resources, including films and sound recordings. (HTH)
