Here is a comparison of the T56 Magnum gearing vs the Toyota Supra Getrag V160. Notice the magnum's 4th gear is equivalent to the Supra 5th gear. As you can see, the t56magnum gearing is a good bit lower than the V160, so to get V160 style gearing requires a higher rear gear. Anywhere from 4.00-4.30 would mate up perfectly to this transmission.

Between rebuild costs, gear costs, synchros, you will have as much into a rebuild as getting a brand new Magnum transmission! You will need to sell your dick and one ball to cover the aftermarket replacement costs on a V160 countershaft, which is about 18" long.
